

General Information

This beautiful forested 85-acre property contains open meadows and fields as well as a small pond and two brooks. The property features a dramatic ridge line with several high outcrops offering scenic views of surrounding hillsides. Marked trails include the yellow loop, with a steep climb to an overlook of Shenipsit Lake, the blue loop meandering along the ridge, and a red trail leading to the bird-filled meadow. Stewardship of the property is provided by the Tolland Conservation Corps.

Wildlife Information

A wide variety of wildlife consisting of animals, birds and reptiles can be found on the property. Deer, fox, coyote and the occasional fisher cat have all been spotted along with the usual mix of smaller animals such as squirrels and chipmunks. Birds are plentiful, including forest songbirds, hawks, owls, and waterfowl. The wetlands offer great habitat for many species of reptiles including salamander, turtles and snakes. Sightings of wildlife will vary with the seasons and weather conditions. Best wildlife viewing is generally at dawn and dusk.

Stewardship

The maintenance of our open space parcels is everyone's responsibility. The town has designated that the Conservation Commission develop a stewardship plan for each parcel. Once the plans are approved, the Tolland Conservation Corps provides volunteers to work on the property. The trails, bridges, and parking areas are maintained by a dedicated group of Tolland residents who make up the Conservation Corps. For more information, please contact the Tolland Development Office at 860-871-3601.
